“Effective leadership and good governance are key to the success of every organisation and to the strength of our economy. By connecting the people and ideas that are helping to drive growth and innovation, and by influencing policy and practice, we are committed to playing our part in ensuring that Scotland continues to punch above its weight on the world stage.”

Professor Susan Deacon CBE

Chair IoD Scotland

“The IoD has invested in the IoD Scotland membership providing a gathering place for members to share best practice. We invite you to join us, develop, get involved and let us work together to make all directors in Scotland from all business, public and third sector communities better at what they do.”

David Watt
